Fun Friday - Red Day & Eid Celebrations

From The Editor's Desk

The travel plans, family gatherings, savouring the mango season, and moments of self-reflection encompass the essence of a vacation, don't they?

We commemorated the final day of school celebrating Eid and the colour Red. The school wore a festive look with vibrant red outfits, joyful smiles, and heartfelt embraces from the little ones!

Before I bid farewell, I want to leave you with a brief message - learning knows no bounds! I hope you take this opportunity to learn from your loved ones and friends and come back with strengthened perspectives.

Happy Holidays!

Experiences

Finland Diary

Our Headmistress, Ms. Monica Arora participated in the 18th International Shadowing Program for School Leaders, conducted by EduExcellence, a research-based training and development organisation in the K-12 Education sector. Led by Ms. Varpu Kahari at Raja Kyla School, Vantaa, she spent a week observing their methods and returned with incredible insight into curriculum framework and delivery in classrooms.

Model G20 Summit

The G20 stands for the Group of 20, which includes 19 countries and the European Union. To honour India's Presidency in this year's G20 Summit, The Premia Academy held a Model Summit on campus for the students of Grades VI to XI. Facilitators, Aaron Maricar and Madhavi Sanskriti, led the students who represented different countries and took on the roles of those leaders. It's a great way to gain an understanding of international relations, as well as the complexity of decision-making when it comes to global issues.

Trek-A-Peak

Grassy Slopes & White Snow

We were presented with an incredible opportunity to visit Manali, and couldn't pass up the chance to embark on this adventure with our friends.

On the 2nd of May, we boarded the flight from Hyderabad to Delhi and then hopped on a bus that took us to our destination, Manali. We arrived in Manali the following morning, it was raining but that didn't dampen our spirits.

The Sun soon came up and we spent the day in adventure activities and indulged in delicious food. After taking a well-deserved rest, we eagerly set out on our trek on the 4th of May. The trek was challenging yet exhilarating, and the breathtaking views from camp 3 made it all worthwhile. We spent the night there, surrounded by awe-inspiring scenery.

Trek-A-Peak

The Right Foot Forward

We encountered various challenges along the way, including crossing streams, navigating rocky terrains, and traversing slippery mud. The steep terrain and slippery soil posed a significant difficulty for most of us. However, we persevered and put forth our best efforts, eventually reaching Camp 3.

At Camp 3, we had a memorable time around the campfire, skillfully crafted by our guides and camp leaders. Their unwavering support and guidance throughout the trip were invaluable, making our journey more enjoyable and fulfilling. We played 'Antakshari', shared stories, laughter, and a sense of camaraderie as we embraced the warmth of the fire, creating lasting memories in the midst of nature's beauty.

Trek-A-Peak

My Snowman And Me

On the 5th of May, we continued our trek from Camp 3 to Camp 2, situated at an impressive altitude of over 11,000 feet. This leg of the journey was particularly exciting as we encountered snow and had an absolute blast making the Premia Snowman. Chefs there treated us to mouthwatering Chole-Bhature. Later that day, we trekked to Camp 1, which proved to be yet another stimulating venture. We spent the night there, savouring the thrill of the adventure.

Trek-A-Peak

Overcoming Fear And Embracing Adventure

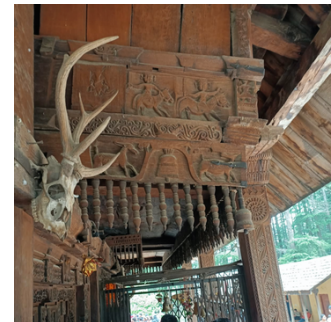

The trek to Pandav Patthar presented a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity that extended beyond mere hiking—it offered a chance to immerse ourselves in a completely new way of life. Gazing upon the towering mountains, I often used to find myself in awe, feeling as though reaching their peaks was an impossible feat. However, trekking to a height of 11000 ft has instilled in me a sense of empowerment and belief that I could accomplish anything. Now, when I look at mountains, I remind myself that they are relatively small and conquerable with patience and perseverance.

The four-day camp involved staying in tents at every four-thousand-foot elevation. I must share my admiration for the cook, Sarkar, who managed to prepare the most delightful meals amidst the snow. Their dedication to providing us with the best food was truly commendable. Additionally, we encountered a daunting 60-degree incline during our trek, and one of the highlights of Manali was the chance to drink water from natural springs.

I am grateful to the Adventure Activity Planners of New Delhi, as their kind and supportive staff made our trek significantly easier. I would also like to express my heartfelt thanks to my school, The Premia Academy, for providing my friends and me with this incredible opportunity. Ending on a positive note, I'm proud to share that we were the second group of the season to reach Camp 2.

Overall, it was an absolute thrill from start to finish, offering us a chance to experience the extraordinary and embrace the spirit of adventure, a trip we persevered, standing tall as the Premia Pride!
